

Certification

This is to certify that the Association of Agricultural Technology in Southeast Asia (AATSEA) has been approved by the Register of Bangkok Metropolitan in Thailand. The objectives of AATSEA are as follows:-

1. To promote the research collaboration and extension between agricultural researchers in Southeast Asia.
2. To exchange advanced knowledge, academy and research on agricultural technology among the membership and other related agencies.
3. To advocate the academic conferences including the distribution of agricultural knowledge and related fields through International Journal of Agricultural Technology (IJAT).
4. To co-operate and collaborate the other agricultural institutes or agencies for advanced agricultural technology.
5. To promote, advocate and offer the excellent researcher on agricultural technology in Southeast Asia.
6. AATSEA is not concerned any the political activities.

The main office of AATSEA is located at 2064 Ladkrabang Road, Ladkrabang District, Bangkok 10520, Thailand.

Issued on 14 April 2012

Mr. Thanich Noipeng
Director of Investigation and Law on behalf of General Director
Department of Provincial Administration
Bangkok, Thailand